

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL BOOST GREATER CONNELLSVILLE.

Busy Winter's Campaign is Mapped Out by Board of Directors in Two Big Meetings.

TO INCREASE ITS MEMBERSHIP

Dues Are Reduced With this End in View and Faithful Are Expected to Enlist—Williamsport Plan Meets Only Enthusiasm.

A busy winter's campaign for the Chamber of Commerce was mapped out at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, at which time all the details that were taken up at the afternoon previous were completed. A big increase in membership making of a fund to meet the current expenses of the organization and an energetic effort to secure a large quantity fund under the Williamsport plan were all arranged for.

Robert Norris of the Board of Directors will visit Williamsport early next month to investigate the plan more thoroughly. While the Williamsport scheme has been clearly explained by General Manager H. H. Laird of the Williamsport Board of Trade, there are several details not quite clear to the members of the Chamber of Commerce, chief among which is the contract made with the attorney-in-fact, who handle the big fund. This contract was drawn up by C. L. Munson, one of the leading attorneys of the State, and Mr. Norris will secure a copy of this, together with other necessary data.

The Chamber of Commerce hopes to raise a fund of $25,000 annually for the purpose of meeting the current expenses of the organization. The members of the Board feel that it is useless to make a start unless it can be along the proper lines and realize that unless sufficient funds are at hand, the body will labor under handicaps. Economy is to be observed along all lines and the money realized will be directed towards bringing new industries to the town.

Some radical changes were made in the by-laws of the organization. Principal among these stands the reduction of the dues from $1 a month to $6 per year. These dues are to be payable within 60 days after the beginning of the fiscal year in December, and all dues owing the association at this time have been cancelled up to December 1. It is believed that the reduction of the dues will bring a large number of men into the organization who did not feel able to pay double that amount.

These dues will not be sufficient to meet current expenses and as a consequence another Williamsport scheme will be adopted. The association will have a roll of honor, on which will be enrolled the names of those members who voluntarily donate a certain sum towards the support of the Chamber of Commerce. Efforts will be made to have these donations cover a period of three years payable annually. In Williamsport members of this roll of honor donate from $5 to $125 each.

Thursday was agreed upon as the best day in the week for the meetings of the Chamber of Commerce. These will be held monthly on the first Thursday of every month. Under the old by-laws, the Board of Directors were required to meet weekly, but seldom did so. The present Directors believe this is too often and as a result have decided that the Board of Directors will meet monthly on the Tuesday preceding the general meeting night of the Chamber of Commerce. Owing to the responsibility placed on the Board of Directors through the guaranty fund, which is to be raised, it was decided to increase the Board of Directors from nine to 15 members. A regular election will be held at the December meeting when five Directors will be elected for three years, five for two years and five for one year. Each year thereafter five will be elected to fill the places of those whose terms expire, although the retiring Directors will be eligible for reelection. This will always leave two-thirds of the Directorate old members, familiar with the work that is at hand, and will prevent an entire new Board being elected at a time when possibly some important matters might be under way.

On next Wednesday night the Chamber of Commerce will meet for the purpose of confirming the changes in the by-laws. At this meeting every prospective member is cordially invited to attend. A vigorous campaign to increase the membership will be waged. The Chamber of Commerce cannot have too many members, the officials argue. Every man in Connellsville who has the slightest interest in the town should join the organization and become a booster. A large number of merchants have signified their intention of coming into the fold at once.

In their campaign for new members the Chamber of Commerce enthusiasts point with pride to their first achievement, the signing of the Williamsport plan at South Connellsville. This was brought about through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and the members of the body believe that this is but the first of a number of good things that Connellsville is to secure. They say, however, that these things will not come unless concerted effort is brought to bear to bring the results about.

The Williamsport plan, which has been heartily endorsed by the Board of Directors here, is explained in full below. The text is from a letter submitted Secretary J. Fred Kutz by H. M. Laird, General Manager of the Williamsport Board of Trade. Here is a few things the fund has done for Williamsport in the nine years it has been in existence: It has increased the population 20 per cent; increased the freight revenues 20 per cent; increased the bank capitalization 37 per cent and deposits 46 per cent. It has increased the assessed valuation of Williamsport property 54 per cent, the freight tonnage 61 per cent. The increase in the surplus and undivided profits of the banks has raised 112 per cent. And, in conclusion, it has caused outside investors to put $1,454,500 in local industries of Williamsport. The plan is as follows:

Referring to inquiry regarding the $25,000 guaranty fund of this Board of Trade, I beg to say:

First—This is a subscription of credit, not cash.

Second—The banks of Williamsport were first interested, after the plan was completed, and agreed to furnish money to the extent of the subscription, on the endorsement of the attorney-in-fact, who represent the subscribers to the fund.

Third—The subscribers for subscriptions followed, members of the Williamsport Board of Trade, and the fund, which contract expired December 4, 1905, $215,000, to the contract now in force, $101,000.

Fourth—The amount agreed upon being subscribed, the subscribers were called together and elected three or four attorneys-in-fact, who, by the terms of the agreement, were empowered to endorse for them during the life of the contract.

Fifth—The contract, with certified action of subscribers in electing attorneys-in-fact, were filed with the banks.

Sixth—The attorneys-in-fact, as authorized to endorse for the whole or any part of $101,000, their total endorsement was reduced to a sum not to exceed the total amount of the subscription.

Seventh—The attorneys-in-fact can endorse for each person or corporation applying for a loan has been approved by the executive committee of the Williamsport Board of Trade, and such approval evidenced in writing to the attorneys-in-fact.

Eighth—The attorneys-in-fact, as representatives of the subscribers, have discretionary power, in that while they can endorse only on the recommendation of the executive committee of the Board of Trade, they may decline to make such approved loans should they consider it unwise. These two bodies, however, have worked together in matters of this kind where there was a possibility of making a loan.

Ninth—An applicant for a loan files his application with the executive committee, which investigates the proposition thoroughly and, if approved, refers the application to the attorneys-in-fact, with a recommendation that the loan be made.

Tenth—The attorneys-in-fact, after verifying the statement of the applicant, and satisfying themselves that the loan is for a legitimate purpose, sign the paper of the applicant, to the amount of the loan approved and indicate to the bank which will furnish the money.

Eleventh—If the applicant meets his obligation as agreed upon, the subscribers as well as the bank, have no knowledge of any transaction.

Twelfth—If the applicant fails to meet his obligation, a subscriber must pay to the bank whatever deficit exists.

Thirteenth—No subscriber is liable more than his proportionate share and if after a loan has been made any subscriber to the fund becomes financially embarrassed, to the extent of his being unable to pay his proportion of loss, the bank is liable for its proportion of this loss. A $1,000 subscriber to the fund is therefore never liable for more than one-fourth hundred and sixty-first (1-161) part of a loss.

Fourteenth—If by reason of death or failure of subscriber or subscribers the total subscription is reduced to a less amount, the committee has the privilege of securing new subscribers to the fund to keep the fund up to its original amount.

The plan worked admirably in Williamsport and that every body is satisfied with the results achieved. It is evidenced very conclusively by the fact that after five years' experience with a fund of $215,000, the members of the Board subscribed $101,000 for use during the next five years.

Receivers Appointed.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—David P. Black was yesterday appointed receiver of the Land Trust Company and Harry S. Calvert for the Mercantile Trust Company. Mr. Calvert is secretary of the State Railroad Commission and resigned that position to accept the receivership.

BLAST OF WINTER

Experienced By Railroad Men Who Were Out Last Night.

Railroaders got their first real blast of winter last night as they manned the cars and every crew that arrived here this morning was stiff and cold. The temperature was not so low but the wind blew fiercely and chilled them all the way through.

Red faces and shivers were plentiful as the men stepped from the trains. There was a snow flurry early this morning and railroaders stated that it was too cold to snow at Sand Patch. Business on the P. M. & P. branch was never better and the trip to and from the Smithfield yards is now regarded as a busy run.

THE HILL WILL PROBATED TODAY.

Personal Effects and Heirlooms Divided Among Nieces.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH'S GIFT

Of Pleasant View Where Decedent Mrs. Mary E. Hill, Attended Services—A Codicil Was Written Three Days Before Death.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 28.—The will of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hill, widow of the late David Hill of Menallen township, who died October 24, was admitted to probate this morning. It is a lengthy document, covering four typewritten pages. The will is dated November 7, 1908, but there is a codicil attached which was written on October 21, three days before her death.

The personal effects and heirlooms are divided among the following nieces: Emma Beal, Mary A. Hess, Sadie Jacobs and Anna Lee; her sister, Mrs. Amanda Cowell, and a grand-niece, Edith Dunn. To her nephew, Alva Hill, she bequeathes $50 in cash. Two hundred dollars is given the trustees of the Pleasant View Presbyterian Church, the proceeds of which is to be applied in keeping the family burial lot in good shape. To the same body is given $100, to be invested and the proceeds directed towards paying the minister's salary.

To Anna Donker is given $200 in addition to any wages that might be due her. The executor is directed to sell the land upon which she resided, as well as her deceased husband's interest in the Hanna Hill Roderick property, and divide the proceeds equally among the following: Mary Dunn, Sadie Jacobs, Emma Beal, Mary E. Farquhar, Anna Lee, Mary Mackelvey, Laura Hess and Mary A. Hess. Should any of the beneficiaries contest the will they forfeit all interest in the estate. William Walters of Waltersburg is named executor.

The codicil made shortly before Mrs. Hill's death provides for the following additional bequests: $100 to Amanda Cowell, $100 to C. B. Dunn, as well as the horse, buggy and harness, and $250 each to Sara Jacobs and Emma Beal.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

Bills Will Be Paid and No Meeting Will Be Held Regular Night Next Tuesday.

Town Council will meet tomorrow night. No official notice has gone out to this effect, but all the members seem to have a "hunch" that this is the date selected. The mid-month session was not held and the regular monthly meeting in November falls on election day. The Councilmen will kill two birds with one stone by combining both sessions in one.

Clerk A. O. Bixler scratched his head several times this morning while trying to figure out how the time of the borough laborers is to be computed. Bills will be paid tomorrow night and many of them have not finished out a month.

All the time will be easy to compute except those who work by the day. These are not many this month, as Chairman Edgar Cypher of the Street Committee got his orders some weeks ago to cut down expenses. Since then the street work has been reduced to a minimum. Some people look at the dirty streets and express the belief that the Street Committee has also quit work.

Guides May Denounce Cook.

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Edward Merrill and Frederick Spritzer, guides on Dr. Cook's Mt. McKinley expedition, announced today they would probably denounce Cook as an impostor when he lectures at Hamilton tonight.

WARN CANNON OF PARTY'S DANGER.

Senators and Congressmen Have Heart to Heart Talk With Sage of Danville.

ONLY TAFT CAN SAVE HIM

Insurgents Do Not Believe President Will Interfere as He Did for Senator Aldrich and Things Look Blue for Uncle Joseph.

United Press Telegram.
CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The Tribune today prints a dispatch from Helena, Ark., saying that the Senators and Congressmen on President Taft's trip down the Mississippi river told Speaker Cannon, who is also aboard, that the Republican party is in danger unless he comes out to run for Speaker of the House of Representatives. It is believed that he has been told by his intimate circle of Washington satellites that he must step down and out.

Speaker Cannon and 11 Senators were present and Uncle Joe was informed as kindly as possible that, according to reports from the Cabinet, he has gone under for the second time and only President Taft can save him. Every plan was discussed but it was decided that the last straw must be for President Taft to say something for Cannon as he did for Senator Aldrich at Winona.

A delegation of the conferees is believed to have asked Mr. Taft to do this but the insurgent Congressmen do not believe he will. It is understood that a delegation of Congressmen will call on Cannon in December and request him to announce his withdrawal from politics.

HELENA, Ark., Oct. 28.—The Taft party will travel the entire day today. After leaving here there will be no stop until the Okla. and its fleet has arrived at Vicksburg, 295 miles away. The river is in no condition for fast traveling and it will probably be late when the boats arrive there. The boats left here at 9 o'clock last night.

The Okla. is anxious to keep up its speed and is leaving the others behind. The Okla. reached here two hours late but the program was carried out without Governor Donaghy, whose boat was beached on account of a breakdown.

JOHNSON BELLOCOS.

Negro Scrapper Arrives in New York and Hits Jeff's Trail.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Jack Johnson, the negro champion pugilist, arrived in New York this morning and announced his intention of meeting James J. Jeffries this afternoon to make final arrangements for their fight.

Johnson declared he could not sign articles too soon to suit him and declared he could be ready to enter the ring within a month.

PLEADS UNWRITTEN LAW.

Sickles on Trial For Killing Randolph Ritchie.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Mattie Sickles, aged 16, was on the stand yesterday in defense of her father, John Sickles, being tried for the murder of Randolph Ritchie.

The girl attempted to tell her story of assault by Ritchie but broke down. Sickles told the story of the killing, relying on the unwritten law for acquittal.

CAPTAIN FITZ-GERALD

On Visit From Ireland to Shamrock Coke Plant.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 28.—Capt. Fitz-Gerald, accompanied by his wife, is in Uniontown the guest of C. E. Leonard. Capt. Fitz-Gerald, whose home is in Watertown, Ireland, is owner of the Shamrock coke plant and his visit here is to look after his interests in the coke region.

WILL RECOVER.

Frank Robinson, Well Known B. & O. Man Improving.

Frank Robinson, the Baltimore & Ohio railroad engineer, who underwent an operation several weeks ago to cut down expenses. Since then the street work has been reduced to a minimum. Some people look at the dirty streets and express the belief that the Street Committee has also quit work.

Improvements at Clarksburg.

Announcement is made that the Baltimore & Ohio will spend $30,000 in yard improvements at Clarksburg.

Fair and Cooler.

Fair and probably cooler tonight and Friday fair and warmer is the noon weather bulletin.

OPENING MINE.

On the Guiler Farm Out in Dunbar Township.

Isaac Woods, who owned the lost coal on the Guiler farm, began yesterday to open a pit mouth and the shipment of coal will begin in a few days. He believes that he has at least four acres. The lease was made subject to a royalty of 1 cent a bushel for the coal.

At the time this was entered into it was supposed that the Sewickley vein was the only one under the surface. It is believed the coal discovered in the old tract was left by the Wilkeys, who formerly mined for domestic use, and was left in the ground as a result of a mining dispute many years ago.

THE TRIENNIAL ASSESSMENT ON.

Assessors Began Their Work Fifteen Days Earlier This Year.

WILL BE COMPLETED BY JAN. 1

Total Valuation in the Greater Town Will Be Considerable Larger Than Total of Two Formerly—Captain Crow New Assessor.

The triennial assessment is on. By grace of the County Commissioners it was started 15 days earlier than usual and the assessors in all the wards are busy. It will be the first assessment taken under the lines laid down by Greater Connellsville and the total valuation is expected to be considerably higher.

The assessment does not usually begin until November 1, but this year the Commissioners issued an order that the assessors might begin their work October 15. It is to be completed January 1.

All the assessors have been given their orders from the Commissioners relative to their work and have been instructed to place better valuations on certain properties. Some of these mean an increase while others will be decreased.

The assessors have started out on the work and have made excellent progress. Captain H. A. Crow is working in the new Fifth ward. It is an entirely new district and it is likely that he will complete his assessments before the end of November.

It is certain that the total valuation will be much higher for Connellsville as the West Side will be assessed as Connellsville for the first time. Quite a few new properties have been added to the list and these will help materially to increase revenues. About the only large construction in the center of the town is the Second National Bank building.

WILL REMOVE BOXES FROM BRIMSTONE CORNER

Have Been Used For Years to Carry Off Storm Water—Sewer Inlets to Catch It.

Councilman William McCormick and Chairman Edgar Cypher of the Street Committee have decided to remove the iron boxes at the corner of Main and Platsburg streets, which have been used for years to carry the storm water underneath the later thoroughfare at the crossing. It was originally intended to drop these boxes and pave over them, but this was not found feasible.

The storm water will be caught by sewer inlets located along upper Main street, while the boxes will be used elsewhere. The iron crossings have been a menace to horses and teams ever since they were put in place. The crossings work well on a level grade, but where there is a hill it is hard for horses to pull a heavy load over them without slipping.

ONLY THREE SHOOT.

High Wind Prevented Contest Being Held on Range.

Owing to the high wind that prevailed today only three members of Company D appeared to shoot for the Reid trophies. The match was held on the Army range instead of outdoors at Leisnering.

Sergeant Joseph Abkenner won the prize in the marksmanship class, Private Ellsworth Clifton for the first class and Private Clarence Sullivan the second class. The medals will be presented at a banquet in the Armory this evening.

Children's Story Hour.

The children's story hour will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Carnegie Free Library. Miss Sara Senton will have charge.

PLANS ARE LAID FOR BIG PARADE ON HALLOWE'EN.

Burgess J. L. Evans Is Named Chief Marshal by The Committee Having Matters in Charge.

BROKEN BACK CASES.

Total of Seventy Have Been Treated at Cottage State Hospital.

The case of Henry Spittler makes a total of 70 broken back patients that have been treated at the Cottage State hospital. It is believed that this is the largest number of such cases treated at any hospital in the State. Out of the whole number one man named Livingstone is able to walk about. He is now in Uniontown. A well known physician stated this morning that where the spinal cord is crushed recovery is impossible although the patient may live for years before paralysis overcomes him.

CHALK MARKS ARE TABOOED

Burgess Issues Orders to Police That All Youngsters Having Chalk Tonight Will Be Arrested—Same Applies to Corn Tomorrow.

The Halloween Committee for the big parade Saturday night slipped one over on Burgess Evans last night and no one has had the heart to break the news to him yet. The committee named him Grand Marshal of the parade. Burgess Evans originated the idea of the parade and the committee members believe he should lead the procession.

Several details were arranged at the session. The matter is to be taken up in the schools today and each principal will name a leader in each of the various rooms. These class leaders will select a spot for the mobilization of the kids under him. No room under No. 5 will have a look in, the lower grade youngsters being less likely to be abroad Halloween night. At this point the question came up whether girls should be invited to participate and it was unanimously decided the parade would be a complete fizzle unless the fairer sex participated. As a consequence, the girls as well as the boys will be expected to don fantastic garb and march in the line.

The various school principals have given their support to the movement. Borough Superintendent W. S. Deffenbaugh has been enlisted and will look out for the Fourth Ward youngsters. Principal Bruce U. P. Coughan of the High School, aided by the other teachers there will handle the High School kids, or be handled by them. Principal F. V. Jones will look after the Second Ward, Wilmer E. Atkinson the Third Ward, George H. Bell the South Side and F. R. Yoder the West Side. The Committee, which has taken charge of the matter is headed by Rev. C. M. Watson, at the request of Burgess Evans.

The North end of town is being looked after by L. V. Marshall, H. O. Keaggy has the South Side in hand and F. R. Yoder is the West Side representative. Secretary Frank L. Chase and Lawrence Schick are looking after the Y. M. C. A. interests and are scheming to give all the youngsters a treat when the parade disbands at the Y. M. C. A. building. Burgess Evans made it plain this morning that chalk marks are tabooed tonight. This is "Chalk night," but in view of the interest taken in the Halloween parade Saturday night, the officials will not sanction any pranks tonight or tomorrow night. The police have been given orders to arrest any boy or girl found making chalk marks tonight and they can be assured that things will not go easy with them if apprehended. The same will apply to those who throw corn tomorrow night.

No restrictions are placed on the costumes to be worn in the parade. This is left to individual taste. The girl, however, who swipes her big brother's attire and parades the streets had better keep on the safe side and haunt the dark and less frequented thoroughfares. She might shock the modesty of the community if she appeared in the parade so attired. This has been a fairly brisk year in years gone by, but it has never fully met with the approval of the police authorities, who are inclined to leave a wide latitude for deportment on this occasion.

NEGRO TRAMP KILLED ON MT. BRADDOCK OVENS

Larry on First Trip this Morning Ran Over Glen Hayes—Died on Way Here.

While asleep on the coke yards of the W. J. Rainey plant at Mt. Braddock, Glen Hayes, negro aged about 30 years, was run down by a Larry this morning about 6 o'clock and so badly injured that he died on his way to the Cottage State hospital. He sustained a fractured skull and several bruises about the body. Hayes has all appearances of a bum and had evidently fallen asleep on the track. The first Larry out this morning ran over his body.

Hayes was dragged for about 30 feet and then fell into a coke oven which was being repaid. On its arrival in Connellsville the body was removed to J. B. Sims' room and prepared for burial. Interment this afternoon in Chestnut Hill Cemetery. Hayes had only one leg.

AUTO HITS ENGINE

Near Butler, Pa., Seriously Injuring Three Men.

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—A Baltimore & Ohio engine crashing into an automobile early today seriously injured Dr. W. W. Lasher of Saxtonburg, Edward Wachsmuth and Albert V. Edmund of Yeohaling. Edmund was suffering from dementia and the party was enroute a hospital at Warren.

The engine crashed into the auto at a grade crossing throwing all into the air, reducing the machine to splinters.

WALSH AT LIBERTY.

Must, However, Remain Under Federal Surveillance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—United States Circuit Court of Appeals today handed down a decision denying the governments petition for an immediate remanding of John R. Walsh in the custody of the United States Marshal for commitment to the penitentiary.

The decision rules, however, while Walsh is allowed his personal liberty the government is permitted to keep him under constant surveillance.

A NEW POSTMASTER

Is To Be Selected For Office at Indian Head.

NORMALVILLE, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The United States Civil Service Commission announces that it will hold an examination at this place on Saturday, November 27th, for the position of fourth class postmaster at Indian Head, Pa. The compensation for the last fiscal year was $157. The age limit is 21 years except women who are eligible at 18 years. Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the said office.

Application forms and full information concerning the same can be secured from the postmaster at Indian Head.

NEW HOPPER CARS.

B. & O. Places Order for 1,000 With Standard Company.

The B. & O. railroad company placed orders yesterday with the Standard Steel Car Company of Butler, Pa., for 2,400 steel hopper coal cars, with the Cambria Steel Company of Cambria, Pa., for 1,000 steel hopper coal cars, and with the American Car Company of St. Louis for 1,000 steel under frame box cars.

SOCIAL.

Steel-Montgomery.

The marriage of Hon. John B. Steel of Greensburg, President Judge of Orphan's Court of Westmoreland county, and Miss Madge Estelle Montgomery of Seymour, Ind., was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church of Seymour. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Charles Schell of the First Presbyterian Church, Greensburg. The maid of honor was Miss Helen Mordock of Greensburg, while the bridesmaids were Miss Adams of Mercer and Miss Cordes of Indianapolis. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Chief Justice Montgomery. The best man was Colonel Richard Coulter of Greensburg. The ushers were Charles M. Jamison of Greensburg, L. P. Wendt of Pittsburgh, Joseph W. Steele and Andrew M. Gardner of Avella.

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Thomas, hostess, at her home on Main street, West Side. A color scheme of yellow and white prevailed in all the appointments. Large bouquets of chrysanthemums formed the floral decorations. Several tables were brought into play for the games. The favors were small Jack o' lanterns filled with cream corn, while the tally cards were pretty little affairs adorned with cupid and Jack o' lanterns. A dainty luncheon followed the games. Mrs. E. C. Holloway of Jeannette was an out of town guest present. Mrs. Thomas is hostess at fancy work this afternoon.

Miss Frisbee Hostess.

Miss Kathryn Frisbee was hostess at a tea yesterday afternoon at her home on West Main street in honor of Mrs. William Hood of Birmingham, Ala. The guest of Mrs. Frisbee, and Miss Edith Huggins, bride-elect. The tea was from 3 until 5 o'clock. Decorations significant of Halloween were cleverly carried out. The hostess and her honor guests received in the drawing room while Mrs. F. T. Evans presided at the tea table. Mrs. Harry H. Mitchell poured chocolate. The ladies were Mrs. L. P. McCormick, Mrs. Herbert Frisbee, Miss Edith Huggins, Miss Mary Dick and Miss Ruth Morris. About forty guests were present.

High School Girls' Supper.

The High School girls have arranged for a supper to be given on the evening of November 10 in the Y. M. C. auditorium in honor of the High School football team. The supper is from 5 until 9 o'clock. In addition to the supper there will be a candy booth presided over by High School girls and photographs of the football team and High School pennants will be on sale. Supper will be served for 35 cents. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Girls' Athletic Association. All are invited to attend.

B. T. O. Club Dance.

The B. T. O. Club dance to be held Tuesday evening in the Assembly room, will be one of the most enjoyable social events held for some time. A large number of invitations are out and many guests from out of town will be present. Music will be furnished by Kiefer's orchestra.

CURES REMOVE DOUBT.

ABOUT ECZEMA CURE.

Read What Your Druggist Says About.

Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

Druggist J. C. Moore submits the following to the readers of The Courier:

For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema; a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right here in this town who have eczema, and still have never tried this remedy.

We have, therefore, arranged with the D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial bottle at 25 cents instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild fluid will take the itch away instantly.

J. C. Moore, druggist.

JOY RIDER HURT.

Burlesque Show "Out With Greensburg Young Men."

GREENSBURG, Oct. 28.—Miss Anna Flynn, who says her home is at East Pittsburgh, was seriously hurt in an automobile accident near here at two o'clock yesterday morning.

The young woman appeared here with a burlesque show and after the performance, she and another woman accepted an invitation for a joy ride, extended by two young men of town.

When five miles out the West Newton road the machine struck a steam roller which had been left standing in the middle of the road. The automobile turned over and the occupants were thrown to the ground. All were bruised, but Miss Flynn was the only one seriously injured. She was taken to the Westmoreland hospital.

MILLER IS DISCHARGED.

Got An Awful Jag With 20 Cents and Had 10 Coppers Left.

Sam Miller of South Conneltsville came from South Conneltsville last night with 20 cents. When he awoke in the police station he had 10 cents and a headache left.

POLICE LUCK IS BAD WITH IMPOUNDED HORSES.

Second Animal in Few Weeks Dies After Being Taken Care of by Local Force.

The borough has been unfortunate of late in its efforts to land stray horses in the bottle, or, more properly speaking, in the stables that are used to impound such animals. For the second time within a few weeks the borough has had a horse to die. Not the same horse, of course, for equine steeds only have one life to a cat's nine.

About 5 o'clock last evening Officer John A. Lowe was patrolling his quiet beat on the West Side, which, after dark, is about as lively as a country graveyard. John was communicating sweet thoughts of an early transfer to a more metropolitan district, not being particularly enamored of the suburbs, when he spied the animal tied to a post. The animal remained motionless for several hours and at 8 o'clock the officer decided the animal had been deserted.

With thoughts of doing the right thing by the helpless creature, Officer Lowe untied the reins and drove to Grim Brothers' livery stable. An hour later he nearly fainted when informed the animal had died. Whether this came from exposure or over feeding is a mystery for some Sherlock Holmes on the force to decipher.

This morning Chief of Police Rottor detailed Officer Joseph O'Brien on the case with instructions to find the owner before he reports to the office cure more. If O'Brien is counted among the missing, that's the answer.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germs—which can be successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent of cases by the application of Newbro's Horplade.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Horplade.

Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Sent 10c in stamps for sample to The Horplade Co., Detroit, Mich.

One dollar bottles guaranteed; Graham & Co., Special Agents.

OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a willing shadow. I had been under the doctor's care for months, but I was getting no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. —Mrs. ESTHER WHEATON, Vienna, W. Va."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass. From women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaint, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

OWENSDALE.

OWENSDALE, Oct. 27.—A beautiful appointed surprise party was tendered Mrs. Gustave Ottensberg, at her home Monday evening.

by her sister, Mrs. Bertha Alexander. A large number of people were present. The gathering numbering 40 persons, coming from Scranton and surrounding towns. A dainty luncheon was served and the evening was given to music and dancing. The guests departed wishing their hosts many happy returns of the day.

All applicants for membership in the Owensdale Running Club are requested to report Saturday. It was announced that positively no fees were to be charged in this club.

There is more cancer in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years doctors pronounced it a fatal disease and prescribed food remedies and constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven there to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cancer Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a full glass, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

CONNELLSVILLE'S EXCELLENT EXAMPLE.

The Latrobe Bulletin is satisfied in its own mind that a Chamber of Commerce is a good thing for a live town, or a dead one, either, for that matter. It says:

A few weeks ago, the Chamber of Commerce, of Connelville, which for a year or two past had gotten into a rut, so to speak, was pulled out on a smooth road again, and was infused with new blood, new enthusiasm and new energy. Announcement is made that the Chamber will be the American Short and Tin Plate Company, located at Connelville, and which for several years has been idle, with only a watchman on guard, in to be started up within sixty days, with nearly 300 hands employed, and with a payroll running close to $40,000 per month.

Who's responsible for it? The Connelville Chamber of Commerce. Yes, the business men of Connelville, acting as the Chamber of Commerce, did it. They took up the question of the rehabilitation of the life plant with the company two weeks ago. It doesn't matter what methods they used. The material and the important fact is that the plant is to resume.

Connellville seems to be setting an excellent example to its neighbors, and it is up to Connelville to keep on setting that example. Its work thus far done has been gratifying, but it is only a beginning. There are other idle plants and there are new plants ready to come to Connelville with the proper encouragement. The only proper way in which to extend that encouragement is under the Williamsport plan.

The Chamber of Commerce has that plan under earnest consideration. The officers are working it up slowly but surely. Its adoption will take some time and much effort. The preparations should be systematic and thorough. The proposition is too big to be put through on short notice or without careful consideration of the details.

AN UNBUSINESSLIKE TAX COLLECTOR.

Democratic Tax Collector Brownfield of South Union township excels the bank clerk in his tax receipt book by saying that some of the taxes were paid by vouchers from corporations, and that as he signed the vouchers it wasn't necessary to issue another receipt.

Perhaps not, but it was necessary, as we understand the intent and purpose of the law, for him to fill out the stubs. The latter are intended as a record. He might have issued the receipts and attached them to the voucher. There would have been no harm in that. The receipts being for the same payment, their duplication would not be a collector. Brownfield seems to think, in a duplicitous manner, and could not have been so construed. But if the collector didn't want to do this he should have filled the stubs and allowed the receipts to remain undetached.

Collector Brownfield may have acted in good faith. We are not prepared to say he did not. We have no accusations to make. But he has acted in a very unbusinesslike manner which has been well calculated to arouse the suspicions of those who have called his methods into question.

THE POSSIBILITIES OF OUR ORCHARDS.

The Washington Observer wants the farmers of Washington and Greene counties to take up the culture of the apple, which it assures them will thrive exceptionally well in the stone limestone soil of that section. Apples were once a good crop in Fayette county, but the droughts and the coke smoke and the indifference of the farmers seem to have all but finished the orchards which were plentiful and fruitful several decades ago. But at that time the market for apples was local and limited. Modern methods of keeping apples and modern shipping facilities have opened a wide and profitable market, and the State's scientific work has done much to as-list the farmer in successful fruit-growing.

Some varieties of apples sell in the Connelville market today as high as $2 per bushel. The old-fashioned rambo apple commands that price. They were once plentiful in this section and they can undoubtedly be grown again.

If a good orchard is a good investment in Washington and Greene counties, it ought to be a good investment in Fayette county. Some people are fond of telling us that our coal will be all worked out in the very near future; if so we had better be looking out for new business to take the place of the coke industry, and the apple business looks promising.

We can raise apples and store them in the abandoned coal pits. There's storage room enough in the region to provide for a world crop in apples, fresh or dried.

The average lumber road is a railway proposition which has a lofty contempt for grades and curves as limited by railroad engineers, and the average lumbering locomotive can climb anything but a tree. Accidents do not often happen on these roads, but when they do something terrible. The Dunbar township accident was typical and indicates that perhaps a greater measure of regulation should be extended to logging and lumber railroads than is now given them by the authorities.

Railway buying was long delayed, but the railroads are trying to compensate steel and iron and allied trades in particular and the country in general by liberal buying.

The Fayette county bar has no reciprocal relations with any other bar or any other court. It's a Legal Trust.

Perhaps President Taft heard of the long-expected hearing before the Ohio when he declared that river improvement should be left there. His being in the Ohio and his knowing something about the navigation of the river and his having heard of the plans to build the packhouse with which to run them over the shallow places during the long summer season.

Colonel Bryan indicates that he is willing to serve his State in the United States Senate. The only wonder is that he did not seek this honor long since. The rules of the Senate permit unlimited debate.

Bwana Tumbo is reported to be hunting the Duma and no doubt there will be much danger and perhaps some bluntness.

The Brownsville church workers are working to clean up the politics of Brownsville and preserve the purity of the ballot. The reformation of political methods in Fayette county is up to the church and self-respecting citizens without regard to their church relations; in fact, a church membership is not always a guarantee of good citizenship.

The First Ward voters will have to vote in the movement, but this is not the sort of underground work that is objectionable in politics.

The foreign element lost no time in returning to the coke region when the services were in demand. The cat always comes back. The coke region is fortunate in having an elastic labor supply.

THE INSPECTION OF COAL MINES.

Mine inspection is and should remain a function of the State. It has for its purpose the proper execution of State mining laws; and the object of these laws is primarily the safety of the miners, incidentally the protection of mine property, says Dr. J. A. Holmes, Director of the United States Geological Survey.

The intent of the State in the carrying out of these laws is the inspection of mines and its methods. These should be sufficient in number for frequent and thorough inspection; the basis for selection and continuance in office should be fitness for office and efficient service. They should be independent of political or other extraneous influences. They should receive compensation for services comparable with the responsibility resting upon them, and the experience and technical training required. They should have reasonable laws to execute. They should have the cooperation of both operators and miners in carrying out the provisions of the laws. Under such conditions the best type of well accepted and held these positions; and their actions will receive the support of public opinion and of the courts.

The Czar to Alphonso: We are both on the Lomh, Alphonso, but we would not quit our jobs of ruling for anything on earth.

This inspection by officers of the State, which is practical, should be supplemented by the work of special inspectors employed by the mining companies. Many such companies have already adopted such a practice and report favorable results. In other coal mining countries this practice has become much more general. But in recommending to American coal operators the adoption of practices found successful in other countries, it should be remembered that the selling price of coal at the mines in the United States is generally less than half that in other countries; and this fact may render impossible here many improvements in behalf of safety and efficiency which the American operator would otherwise be glad to inaugurate.

The function of the Federal Government in connection with mine operation is one of research and regulation, having in view two fundamental purposes:

1. Greater safety for the lives of miners; and
2. The conservation of mineral resources.

In connection with ordinary mine inspection the special service rendered by these investigations will be:

1. The development of data such as will serve as a basis for the enactment of reasonable laws, rules, and regulations.
2. The establishment of facts which may serve as a basis for the settlement of disputes between inspectors and operators and miners, either by the courts or boards of arbitration.

The property of having such inspectors and researchers conducted by the Federal Government in relation to mining will serve as a basis for the enactment of reasonable laws, rules, and regulations. It may be added that the practice avoids extensive duplication of labor and expense by the State, and the mine investigations naturally cover a wider field of experience, including also experience in other countries and in other parts of the world, which is more generally accepted as important, being further removed from local influences.

Under such conditions there will be no basis of conflict between the State and Federal interests, no encroachment of one on the duties or rights of the other. The power of the Federal Government will depend upon its securing and maintaining the good will of the miners, and the success of both the State and Federal work will depend upon their securing the proper friendly cooperation of the miners and operators.

Nor is anyone now likely to question the proposition that the conservation of resources is a national as well as a State problem. In the mining treatment and use of mineral products no State is isolated; the coal, iron, copper, and other minerals are distributed in one State may be mined in another, smelted in a third, refined in a fourth, and used in many different States. The coal, iron, copper, and other minerals may serve as a basis of interstate transportation of mail, passengers and freight; while the manufactured products to be transported may in turn serve as an essential basis of other industries in the remotest parts of the country. The iron ore of Minnesota may be mined by a man with coke from Pennsylvania and limestone from Indiana, to be fabricated into steel at some far corner for buildings in San Francisco, or New Orleans, or Boston, or as railway bridges across the Columbia, the Mississippi, the Hudson or the Nile.

The products of the mine constitute no less than 65 per cent. of the total freight traffic of the country; they are indispensable to our industries and international commerce, and are essential to both our present and future welfare and progress. It is believed that the development of such a system of cooperation between the State and Federal authorities will safeguard the rights of the States; will encourage greater uniformity in mining laws and regulations in the different States; will aid in the conservation of life and resources; and will be generally helpful to mining industries of the country.

SAILORS' BODIES WASHED ASHORE.

Hestia.

DEATH LIST MAY REACH 35

Sore Possibility That Some of Crew of ill-Fated Steamer May Be Picked Up Alive—Six Men Who Were Saved Spent 24 Hours in Rigging.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 25.—There is a bare possibility that in addition to the six men rescued from the wrecked steamer Hestia by the Grand Manan lifeboats some of the others of the crew of that ill-fated vessel may still be alive, but scarcely anyone here is of that opinion. Two of the Hestia's boats, one containing the bodies of Chief Engineer Munna and Steward Theodore Reid, drifted ashore on a beach a short distance from Yarmouth, N. S., and another, in which was the body of an unidentified sailor, was picked up floating on Salmon river, not far from Digby. All three bodies were taken to Yarmouth, where an inquest will be held.

The finding of these lifeboats practically dispels the hopes that some of the many men who put off from the Hestia soon after she left the rocks of Old Proprietor's ledge may have been picked up by a passing vessel, and the death list foots up to thirty-four or thirty-five.

Because of the poor mode of communication between here and Grand Manan island it has been practically impossible to ascertain from any of the six survivors of the steamer just how many lifeboats were lowered over the side of the Hestia, but it is believed here that only two left the craft and that they are the ones cast up on the Nova Scotia shore, just across the bay of Fundy from Grand Manan.

It was also learned over the one telegraph line, the only electrical means of communication with Grand Manan, that the six men saved from her spent more than twenty-four hours lashed in the rigging. When the gale abated they slid down to the deck and made their way to the bridge of the ship, where they managed to keep dry until the lifeboat came out from Seal cove. The survivors were in such a weakened state because of their long exposure that they were unable to tell a connected story, and several of them, particularly Seaman Keene, are in a critical condition.

The Hestia cannot be saved. She is almost completely under water and the many fishing craft that put out to her from Grand Manan, Eastport and this city report that her decks are awash and that her cargo is floating about the bay, indicating that she is going to pieces.

There is no way of obtaining here a complete list of those on board, or of learning just how many people there were on the Hestia when she hit the rocks. It is certain that there were at least forty on board, and possibly more. There were several young boys, who were being brought out to this country, and they were all lost, as well as some cattle keepers returning from England.

DENIES OTHER CRIMES

Mueller Says He Killed Only Anna Luther.

Islip, L. I., Oct. 25.—Coroner Savage expects to conclude tomorrow afternoon the inquest in the case of Mrs. Anna Luther-Mueller, whose skeleton was found in the woods near this place. Otto Mueller, alias Frederick Gebhardt, the cabinet maker, who confessed after his arrest on Sunday that he killed Anna Luther, will be committed to the Suffolk county jail at Riverhead to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder. Gebhardt still persists that he disposed of no other woman as he did Anna Luther. He also denies that he married or knew Minnie Roseman, who attended the inquest and identified Gebhardt as the Mueller who had married her in Russia fifteen years ago and deserted her after gaining possession of a fair dowry. Further identification of Gebhardt is to be made by the woman's mother when the inquest is resumed on Friday. Coroner Savage thinks the identification real, but Gebhardt is of a common type and a mistake would be easy.

Wanted Big Funeral, and Had It.
Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 25.—The dying wish of Francisco Andreola was gratified when he had the biggest funeral ever seen here. The man had $1,200, which he had saved from years of labor, and when he found that he was going to die he made a signed statement in which he asked that all of it be spent for a funeral. A brass band of forty pieces preceded the twenty-six coffins. He had no family.

Wife and Then Himself in Boston
Apartment House.

Boston, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Irving Fletcher, aged eighteen, wife of an electric car conductor, was shot and killed by her husband. The man then turned the weapon upon himself and sent a bullet into his brain. The double tragedy took place at the head of the first flight of stairs in the big apartment house, "The Falls."

Mrs. Fletcher had called at the suite of Miss Anna Folger and asked for her protection. She said her husband had been beating and abusing her shamefully. Fletcher later called at Miss Folger's apartment and demanded to be admitted. The door was locked in his face by Miss Folger. He then threw his weight against the door and broke it in. Miss Folger says that Fletcher punched and kicked her and then beat his wife. Finally he was pacified and influenced to leave the apartment.

Miss Folger went to work, leaving Mrs. Fletcher and her baby. Fletcher reached the house while she was absent and in some way he got his wife out into the hall and began firing.

WOMEN CANDIDATES

Campaign Like Men and Will Get Out Ohio Vote.

Zanesville, O., Oct. 25.—The woman's suffrage movement has received an impetus in this county through the activity of two young women of Roseville, Miss Florence L. Jones, a stenographer, and Miss Ruby Brown, a music teacher, both candidates on the prohibition ticket for members of the school board.

In order to show that they are up-to-the-minute in politics the two have arranged to hold a big rally in the Roseville Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday evening as a climax to their campaign. All the "men and women voters" are urged through the medium of three-sheet posters to attend.

Both the candidates are billed to make speeches, one to discuss "Civic Rights," and the other "Equal Suffrage." They declare they will be out early next Tuesday morning and "get out the woman vote."

BELIEVE MYSTERY SOLVED

Wealthy Farmer Arrested For Burning Barns.

Doylstown, Pa., Oct. 25.—The arrest of Hugh B. Weaver, a well-to-do farmer of Tineum township, charged with burning three barns upon the farms of the Tettermeier brothers at Uhlertown, inspires the Bucks county authorities with the belief that they have solved the mystery surrounding some of the incendiary fires of the past summer.

The Tettermeier brothers, Jordan, Peter and Newton, have each had a barn destroyed by an incendiary fire. At one of the places the barn was immediately rebuilt and was again destroyed by an incendiary. An attempt was also made to burn the dwelling house on this farm. Before each fire anonymous letters were sent to them threatening the burning of their buildings, and in each instance the threat was carried out. Recently the Tettermeiers received many letters threatening their lives and the further destruction of their buildings if they did not move from the neighborhood.

PECKHAM LAID AT REST

Remains of Supreme Court Justice
Buried at Albany, N. Y.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The late United States Supreme Court Justice Rufus W. Peckham was laid at rest in the rural cemetery here.

The coffin was smothered in a blanket of roses and there were numerous floral tributes. The honorary pallbearers were Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court and Associate Justices Harlan, Brewer, White, McKenna, Holmes and Day, former chief judges of state court of appeals Parker and Andrews, Chief Judge Cullen of the state court of appeals and Judges Bartlett and Gray of the same court; former United States Circuit Judge Wallace and former Attorney General Rosendale, Dudley O'Leary, Charles E. Patterson, Albert Hoesberg and James D. Wasson of Albany. Governor and Mrs. Hughes, David B. Hill and the leading judges and justices of the state also attended the services at the church, as well as the members of the bar and the dead justice's many Albany friends.

DICKINSON IS WILLING

Would Not Turn Down Opportunity to Become United States Senator.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 25.—While not formally declaring himself a candidate to succeed present Senator James B. Frazier of Tennessee, Secretary of War Jacob M. Dickinson declared his willingness to be so regarded in the following words:

"If it should appear to me, as has been urged, that my candidacy would be the means of unifying present warring factions in the Democratic party, I should consider it my duty to sink personal inclinations and accept the situation, though my present position as secretary of war would prevent my making any unseasonable scramble for the place."

Fatal Quarrel Over Hogs.

Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 25.—Ralph L. Webster, aged sixty, was shot and killed by Dr. J. P. Deckard. Deckard and Webster were neighbors in the village of Paradise, but had had some animosity over each other's hogs.

VERY BAD FIRE IN DISKIN HOUSE.

ened With Destruction.

A HEAVY DAMAGE RESULTED

Miss Mary Byrne's Halloween Party at Tyrone Club—Quarterly Meeting at Jacob's Creek Church—Interest in Friday Evening is Increasing.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 25.—A dangerous and destructive fire was the cause of an alarm at 7:30 last night calling the fire department to the residence of Thomas J. Diskin at Millbury and High streets. The department made a quick run to the place, and found a fire stubbornly burning in the third floor, which is a finished attic. A line of hose was run up on the front porch and another on the back porch and the fight against the fire was begun. The blaze was a very stubborn one, and the amount of water necessary to extinguish it was the cause of flooding the floor and running down on the next floor so that it occasioned the falling of a lot of plaster and extensive damage from this feature.

The fire was started, it is said, by the hired girl going to the attic to get some lanterns for Halloween festivities, and lighting a match whose spark flew into the cotton of a Christmas tree that had been stored there. The girl endeavored as best she could to extinguish the fire with blankets and comforts that she placed on the blaze, while the boys who were about tried to fight it with a garden hose that they got. The fire had too much headway and an alarm was sent in as quickly as possible. The damage was extensive and it is said will probably amount to $2,000 covered by insurance.

There was a scene of excitement natural to such an occasion. The smoke was so dense that the firemen could not stay long in the attic at first without being nearly suffocated, and a couple of them were dragged out by their companions who took their places, nearly exhausted. Mrs. Diskin, leaving the house tripped on a line of hose and severely bruised herself when she fell to the pavement. The family went to W. V. Whitman's just opposite and W. S. Loucks a few doors below, and remained there last night, their home being uninhabitable.

Masquerade Party.
A very prettily appointed masquerade dinner was tendered to the many young friends in Scottsdale and Bryson at Miss Mary Byrne last evening at the Tyrone hall. The decorations were elaborate and wholly in keeping with the spirit of the season, corn stalks lining the four sides of the room, while from the ceiling was suspended a number of pumpkins, neatly carved into grotesque faces and lighted up with electric lights of different colors. The costumes were resplendent and varied and ranged from a German kaiser to an American admiral. Many of the costumes were beautiful and costly. At 10 o'clock a dainty and elaborate lunch was served, after which there was dancing until 11:30 when everyone departed for their homes, the boys having offered their company before the guests unmasked, something that caused a great deal of merriment as not all were identified. There were about 100 guests present.

The Passing Review.
Geyer's Opera House was crowded last evening to witness "The Passing Review" and judging from the generous applause that broke out through the audience it was a most successful performance. The company is large and capable, and goes to the Soloson Theatre at Connelville tonight. "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the New England play, is the attraction at Geyer's tonight.

Quarterly Meeting.
The first quarterly meeting of the year on the Jacobs Creek Methodist Episcopal Church comes early this year, the quarterly conference being next Saturday forenoon at 10:30. On account of the greater convenience, Rev. Archibald Auld, the pastor, has made arrangements to have the quarterly conference in the pastor's study at the First Methodist Episcopal Church instead of at the Jacobs Creek church. Rev. R. S. Ross, the District Superintendent, will be present and also at the Jacobs Creek Church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 when the communion will be administered.

Watching the Weather.
Everyone is watching the weather closely in hopes that it will continue pleasant over Friday night as this is all needed for the greatest Halloween ever observed in Scottsdale. The preparations are general, and nearly the entire town will take part in the festivities. The country people, too, are this year taking a great deal of interest in the affair, and will compete for prizes in the parades, which starts at 8 o'clock from Loucks park. There will also be a Halloween masked ball held at the Ellsworth auditorium at 8 o'clock, and many from the parades will be in attendance there, after the parades are over. The Colonial orchestra will furnish the music and the occasion promises to be an enjoyable one.

JUDGE REBUKES LOEB'S ACTION.

Comments Sharply on Graft System in Customs Service.

THIEVES RETAINED ON JOBS

Most Discreditable Proceeding, Judge Holt Says, to Keep Self Confessed Thieves at Work in Government Service.

New York, Oct. 28.—The end of the Musca case came in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court when young Philip Musca, an importer, who had pleaded guilty of participation in cheese-weighting frauds, was remanded for sentence by Judge Holt, and the indignant comment from Judge Holt that Collector Loeb's action in retaining self-confessed thieves in the customs service was discreditable to the government and an injustice to honest men made some importers believe that the whole graft system could be ended by a fair course of dealing in Collector Loeb's office.

Judge Holt, speaking from the bench, did not sugar-coat the situation in the least. Young Musca's guilt had been settled by the testimony of three men, George Briem, George Berke and William Hutchinson, assistant weighers on the docks, all of whom have a guarantee of immunity from prosecution and were retained in their jobs. They testified coolly that they were dishonest men when they gave evidence against the young Italian importer.

Judge Holt's Remarks.

Before the end of the trial Judge Holt remarked: "I want to refer to one matter which has appeared in evidence here, and that is the testimony of these three government witnesses, to the effect that, in addition to their being promised immunity from prosecution in this case, they were promised retention in their offices in the custom house. It is necessary sometimes that the evidence of accomplices should be forgotten and for that purpose it is proper to grant them immunity, but I have never heard before of such a practice as promising to continue men in the public service after they have confessed the commission of crimes in the office, and I desire to express the emphatic disapproval of this court of any such practice."

William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port, was the man who granted immunity to the three men. It was understood that Judge Holt's rebuke applied to Mr. Loeb. Mr. Loeb himself took it that way. He issued a statement defending his course on the score that it was necessary to keep the three on his payroll, because that was the only way the whole system of graft could be uprooted.

CHINA'S CLEVER MOVE

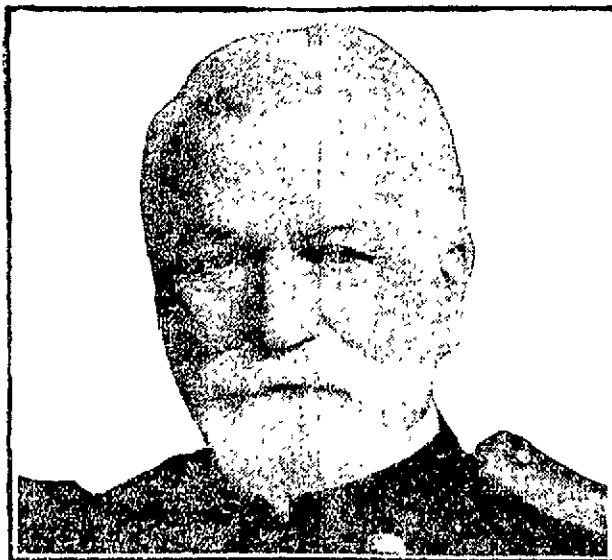

Not Responsible For Its Assassination, She Declares.

London, Oct. 28.—By declaring that she is in no way responsible for the assassination of Prince Ito at Harbin, because of the fact that she has been deprived of police powers, the Chinese government is recognized as having pressed a most important diplomatic point in her own interest in Manchuria.

This disclaimer is regarded as of tremendous significance. The Chinese government, with consummate diplomacy, has turned a disadvantage into an advantage that has the force of an appeal to the capitals of the world, by showing that she is unable to prevent so important a political slaying as Ito's assassination in her own territory. China lost control of the railroad some time after the Boxer uprising, when Russia took control there, declaring that such a move was imperatively necessary to Russian administration. Then Japan took the jurisdiction and today China is helpless and without authority in one of the most important stretches of territory in all her vast empire.

WANTS BIG FEE.

Asks $40,000 For Patching Up Couple's Differences.

New York, Oct. 28.—Judge McCall and a jury in the supreme court are trying the suit of Daniel W. Scanlon, a New York lawyer, against Mrs. Lydia A. Hodge of Chicago for $40,000 for services the lawyer claims he rendered, including the bringing about of a ceremonial marriage between Mrs. Hodge and her husband, Charles J. Hodge. The latter is a wealthy mining operator, with an income, according to Mr. Scanlon, of $40,000 a year.

Scanlon, on the witness stand, told of numerous quarrels between the couple and how he figured in bringing about reconciliation. Finally, Mrs. Hodge decided to bring suit for separation. Hodge offered her $5,000 in settlement, no Scanlon testified, and the plaintiff advised her to refuse. Later she did accept $17,000 from Hodge. The couple lived apart after this for a long period, but the mining man finally made overtures for her return.

She consulted Mr. Scanlon, so the latter declares, and in the course of their talk said she would be willing to pay $40,000 if a ceremonial marriage could be brought about between her and Hodge. Mr. Scanlon went to Hodge, he testified, and induced him to consent to a ceremonial marriage. The marriage ceremony was later performed, but Scanlon says he did not get the $40,000.

WHO WILL WRITE PLATFORM?

Both Bryan and Shallenberger Want to Frame One For Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 28.—Governor Shallenberger and William J. Bryan have had a tilt over who shall write the next Democratic state platform in Nebraska, and Shallenberger has not only refused to get out of the way of Mr. Bryan, but has said that, since the number of votes cast for him exceeded those cast for Bryan in the last election it's up to Bryan to stand aside and let Shallenberger write the platform.

C. W. Bryan, brother of William J. Bryan, was the emissary between Bryan and Shallenberger. He is quoted as saying to Shallenberger that his brother desires very much to make the run for senator in Nebraska, he also wants to write the platform of the party.

RIVER BOOMERS GET A SETBACK.

Taft Asks If They Really Want Mississippi Deepened.

FLEET AT VICKSBURG, MISS.

Great Deep Waterways Excursion Develops Into Political Junket and Only Occasionally a Real Purpose of Cruise Mentioned.

Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 28.—The presidential fleet, on its way to New Orleans, arrived here today.

This great deep waterways excursion has developed into a political junket and an occasion for discussing interstate problems. Occasionally a look at the muddy river brings to the minds of the junketers the real purpose of the trip, but that purpose for four-foot channels has gotten to be largely an after thought.

Mr. Taft himself had the temerity to suggest that the deep waterway agitators pause and discover whether they really want the Mississippi deepened, whether the merchants themselves don't prefer rail to water transportation. It made the deep waterway boosters gasp, this Taft statement, and they have come to the conclusion that the president isn't very enthusiastic over their pet two hundred million project. Practically the only topic of conversation on the boat bearing the 177 congressmen has been Uncle Joe's future. The congressmen know they are on a waterways excursion and occasionally refer to the fact when they make landings, but sand bars and dredgings are the least of their worries while on ship-board.

Ask Indorsement For Cannon.

The ghost of President Taft's Boston speech praising Aldrich is haunting him. Uncle Joe Cannon's friends in congress now ask that Mr. Taft give the same sort of a public certificate to him. They have held a meeting on the steamboat Quincey of the president's Mississippi fleet and have decided to urge Mr. Taft to say something in Uncle Joe's favor before the deep waterway cruise ends.

The speaker's friends argue that he is as deserving as Senator Aldrich of the president's O. K., and that he stands in much greater need of it. They add that the speaker and the senator have stood for the same things and that if Mr. Taft indorses

BACKACHE GOES AND KIDNEYS ACT FINE AFTER TAKING A FEW DOSES.

Out-of-Order Kidneys Are Regulated and the Most Severe Bladder Misery Vanishes.

No man or woman here whose kidneys are out-of-order, or who suffers from backache or bladder misery, can afford to leave Pape's Dietetic untried.

After taking several doses, all pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, dizziness, tired or worn-out feeling, and other symptoms of clogged, sluggish kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable merriment (especially at night), smarting, discolored water and all bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect the slightest kidney or bladder disorder, or feel rheumatic pains, don't continue to be miserable or worried, but get a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's

Dietetic from your druggist and start taking as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless or will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

This unusual preparation goes directly to the cause of trouble, distributing its cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completely cures before you realize it.

A few days' treatment of Pape's Dietetic means clean, healthy, active kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and you feel fine.

Your physician, pharmacist, druggist or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Accept only Pape's Dietetic—fifty-cent treatment—from any drug store—anywhere in the world.

one he ought to be willing to extend a supporting hand to the other. Some of the speaker's friends fear that the tariff agitation is going to develop solely into a fight against Uncle Joe and they would like to have a helpful word or two from the president.

It is unlikely that Mr. Taft will be drawn into any public expression on Speaker Cannon. The subject is loaded with too much dynamite, especially in the middle west. The president's indorsement of Aldrich is the most unpopular thing he has done on his trip and one experience undoubtedly will be enough.

Yokum Pleads For Business Methods in Government Affairs.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 28.—"Prosperity day" at the state fair here was largely attended. E. F. Yokum, chairman of the board of directors of the "Frisco-Reck Island railway, made a notable address on "The Development of the Southwest: the Need of the Hour."

Mr. Yokum bitterly condemned the extravagance of the government in the Washington departments and pleaded for the application of business methods to government affairs. Going further he contended that business methods on the farm would keep the boys from the cities and give the farmer the same advantages as the railroads and the banks.

William Jay Gaynor moved to Brooklyn in 1873 from Whitestown, Oneida county, N. Y., where he was born in 1851. While studying law he worked on a New York newspaper, being admitted to the bar in 1875. His first bid for national prominence was in breaking up political rings and in obtaining the conviction of John V. McKean for election frauds. He became a Justice of the Supreme Court of New York in 1893, having been nominated by Republicans and Independent Democrats. He was one of the first public men in the east to denounce favoritism in freight rates.

ANDREWS SOUNDS
NOTE OF WARNING.

Republicans Told of the Danger of Over-Confidence.

DEMOCRATS ON STILL HUNT

Seeking Complimentary Votes For Nominee For Supreme Bench and Banking Upon a Small Poll by Majority Party.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, today sounded a note of warning to the Republicans of Pennsylvania.

He made it clear that he expects every Republican voter in this state to do his duty on Nov. 2.

With election day only about one week off the state chairman insists that there must be a lining up of the Republican forces in every county if the Republican ticket is to be elected, as it ought to be, by an overwhelming majority. Since early in September Chairman Andrews, from the headquarters of the Republican state committee in this city, has been directing an aggressive campaign. Not that the Republican ticket is in danger; it is not. But many Republicans of Pennsylvania frequently take Republican success for granted and make no special effort to go to the polls.

It was this danger of overconfidence that Colonel Andrews had in mind today.

"Pennsylvania is the banner Republican state; we have the votes, and to poll the right kind of majority it is only necessary for the voters to cast their ballots," said the chairman. "Many Republicans in an off-year like this, when there is no particular excitement, proceed upon the theory that the rest of the party will vote and thus insure the election of the ticket. Now it is an axiom of warfare that an army must constantly be on guard. I want to warn the Republicans of this state against the 'last card' in politics. They should see that Democratic effort does not threaten Republican success.

"The Republican party has a splendid ticket. A better one has never been offered the people of Pennsylvania. A. E. Sisson and J. A. Stuber are able and experienced men; they have records that commend them to the people, and they are public spirited citizens. They will contribute their full share to a continuance of good government in this commonwealth.

The Judicial Campaign.
"Judge Robert von Moschizker will make a great supreme court justice. He has a splendid record as a common pleas judge; he is known to the lawyers of the state as one of the ablest members of the Pennsylvania bar, and he has the confidence of all of the people. Not a syllable has been uttered against him since his nomination. His qualifications for the supreme bench are conceded by everybody. He ought to be elected by a tremendous majority. His Democratic opponent, Mr. Munson, is presenting this state with a spectacle it has never before witnessed. He is the only candidate for a high judicial office, who, in his eagerness for election, has so far overlooked the proprieties as to make a personal and compromising campaign for votes. He is now on a campaign tour meeting the voters and making what are nothing more nor less than ordinary stump speeches. In Williamsport he maintains a large literary bureau, which has sent out thousands of documents and letters, in which he asks the voters to support him as a non-partisan candidate. He has adopted the endless chain system of letter writing and by this means hopes to reach every voter in

III.—How to Keep Young.

YOUNG Mrs. Rollins was dressed for the opera when Colonel Sneed, her father, entered. The old gentleman threw up his hands in mock astonishment and chuckled with delight.

"My, my, my, child," he exclaimed, "you look as fine as the queen of Sheba! And I'll bet," he added, "you're a doggone sight prettier. Turn around, honey, and let me get a sort of panoramic view of you."

With an indulgent smile Mrs. Rollins revolved.

"The more I look the better I like it," said the colonel. "But the wrappings aren't any too good for what's inside of it. And that reminds me that I haven't kissed you yet. You dazzled me so I plan to forget. Kind of turn your cheek up to one side so I won't miss anything. There, now. But—but—"

The colonel was running the end of his tongue over his lips, and there was a puzzled expression on his face.

"What's the matter, papa?" asked Mrs. Rollins, with twinkling eyes.

"The brand don't seem quite familiar," he answered.

"What is it, honey?"

"Oh, it's just a little touch of rouge, daddy; that's all."

"Huh!" grunted the colonel. "I thought so. Begin with the lips already, are you? Well, I don't take much stock in red lips, but I reckon the principle's all right. You see—"

But by the way, where's William? Dressed, eh? Just go home? I'm afraid that boy is worth too hard.

"Think I'll sit down and chat with you anyhow until he comes down."

"As I was going to remark, little girl," resumed the colonel after he had arranged himself comfortably in the big armchair, "I've got some rather peculiar notions about keeping young. I'm a long way from being an old man yet, but I've been around here a considerable time, and maybe I can give you some pointers on what every woman wants to know."

"I reckon you've heard that old song about a woman being as old as she looks, while a man's just as old as he feels. Well, there's some truth in the distinction, for looks have a whole lot more to do with a woman than a man; but, all the same, it's the feeling that counts in the long run, and it counts just as much for one sex as it does for the other. You're going to be young, honey, just as long as you feel young, and if you feel young the looks will take care of themselves. Now, there's a good deal more in that statement than I can work out for you while William's getting into his dress shirt, but it all slumbers down to this: that the way to keep young is to quit growin' old. That's what they call a Gift to Hebrew College.

Cincinnati, Oct. 28.—Julius Rosenwald of Chicago informed the governors of the Hebrew Union college that he would give $50,000 toward the expenses of the main building of the institution. Mr. Rosenwald made the announcement of his gift at the celebration of the golden wedding of Bernard Bettman, president of the college board.

berhood she's goin' to have her share of it without jankin' a fool of herself. "Now, did you ever see anybody with a straight back who was really old—I mean old in heart and mind? No, sakes, you never did. Keep your backbone straight, honey, whatever you do. The minute it begins to sag or bend that very minute, old age starts down the road to meet you. It's easy enough to keep it straight now, while your years are few, but after awhile you'll begin to feel like lettin' your shoulders droop, and if you let them do it, why, pretty soon your chest will go in, and your stomach will push out, and the wrin-ties 'll begin to multiply. You'll look old, and, what's more, honey, you'll feel old. The backbone was made to support your head, and when the support begins to get wobbly you can't brace up the superstructure with toilet creams.

"Not that I'm against toilet creams; bless your life, no. I believe in a woman lookin' as handsome as she can as long as she can, and when I see one of sixty, as I do every day or so over home, massagin' her neck and rubbin' goose grease, or whatever it is, into her cheeks, why, I glory in her spunk. But—and I want you to get this straight in your mind, honey—if she didn't have a straight back and a stiff upper lip she wouldn't be doin' that sort of thing. When your spinal column begins to droop you begin to quit carin' much about your looks. If you haven't got enough ambition to hold your shoulders back you're not goin' to have enough to rub the crow's feet from the corners of your eyes, and the only thing you can do is to get some red and white paint and cover up the cracks. But paint, my dear, won't keep you young. It's all right in an emergency. I believe every woman ought to have a little paint on her toilet table for use when there are dark circles around her eyes and no color in her cheeks and she's compelled to go out in company—when she's sick, in fact, and don't want to show it; then I think it's all right to put up a good straight back, honey, don't you get the notion in your head that you've got to swab around with a paint brush every time you go out. No man ever put a color in a jar that was any where near as fine as the thin that nature puts in a woman's face, and if she don't keep 'em buried under artificial pigments they'll stay with her as long as she holds herself erect with face to the front and gets all the joy she can out of life. A straight back and a stiff upper lip, little girl, beat all the cosmetics on earth."

Going to Church.

There's a million excuses for sleepin' late on Sunday mornin', and none of 'em's any account. It's just laziness—pure undiluted laziness. That's what it is. We're all of us lazy, more or less, mostly more, and it's a powerful temptation to loaf in bed until the church bells quit ringin'; but, all the same, children, it's a bad habit to get into.

I ain't a pillar of the church, and I reckon if they was to send out a search party after now, dancin' I'd be about the last man they'd pick, but I come to the conclusion a long time ago that the church is a mighty good thing to blith on to, whether you're figurin' on happiness in this world or the next. I don't mean to say that the church'll carry a man into heaven. Not by a long jump. Anybody can join the church, but gettin' through the pearly gates is a different proposition. Some of the meanest, no 'countest people I ever had an dealin' with belong to the church, and if I thought they had through tickets to the green fields of Eden I'd want to go the other way. But I know they haven't. I know they'll all be brushed off when they try to come under the wire at the finish, and so the things they do and the things they say don't bother me a little bit.

On the other hand, I believe a man or a woman, if they've got the right kind of a disposition and the necessary stiffness of backbone, can worry along through life and get satisfactorily settled in the hereafter without any help from the church. But—and I can't make that "but" too strong—it's only one in a thousand who can do that. The other 999 need some help to keep 'em from wanderin' off the straight-away track that leads to happiness and peace and everything else that's worth havin'—Colonel John Sneed.
